ADA COLLEGE IS GIVEN BASEBALL TITLE OF STATE

Championship Awarded to East Central Saturday
By Conference.

IS A SIGNAL HONOR

Local Track Team Looming
as Strong Contender
in O. C. Events.

East Central Teachers college was awarded state collegiate baseball championship at a meeting in Oklahoma City this morning of the state athletic conference, according to a telephone communication from Coach M. Z. Thompson, who is sitting in the meeting.

This is the highest athletic honor that has been achieved by the local school in years, officials said. This is expected also to eliminate the necessity of Thompson's nine playing Weatherford teachers, who were tentatively scheduled for a 3-game series next week as a post season event. East Central's single defeat by the University of Tulsa was the only one that marred the season's record.

Weatherford was awarded state collegiate title in basketball and Edmond in football.

Many of Thompson's men who have starred on the regular nine this season will be with the college next year and glowing hopes of repeating as conference champions were seen by the coach today. Local college authorities received news of the victory here gladly and asserted that it was a fitting climax for a successful year's work in athletic lines.

In the invitation collegiate track meet which is being held by Oklahoma City college today, East Central is looming strong in mile, half mile, high hurdles and pole vault, Thompson said. In the preliminaries yesterday, Martin of Ada placed second in the high hurdles, his time being 16 flat. He was heralded as a probable winner in the finals this afternoon, Thompson said at 1 p.m. today. All colleges and universities in the state except the University of Oklahoma and Oklahoma A & M College have teams entered.

The local track team will return to Ada on the night Katy. If the first regularly organized team of its kind that has represented East Central on the field.

New Era Movement
Enables Churches to Advance Plans

(By the Associated Press)

DES MOINES.—Without some much enterprise as the New Era Movement, which was launched in 1918 as a church expansion program, missionary and education enterprises of the Presbyterian church in the United States of America (north) "would have been utterly unable to continue their work," according to the report of the committee on the Movement. This report, submitted to the General Assembly of the church here, also declared that "during the brief period of years, when the cost of doing business has steadily been mounting, it is significant that the receipts of our missionary and benevolence agencies should practically have doubled."

The report summarized achievements of the Movement as follows:

"The ingathering of souls; the increase in the number of family altars, the development of stewardship plans and activities, the setting of goals by individual churches for their work, the increase of the organized work of the men of the church, the rapid development of religious education, the inspiring advance in the number of young men and young women enlisting as wholetime religious workers, the ten million dollar gain in congregational income, the practical doubling of the benevolence budget of the church, and last, but not least, the unprecedented increase in the program of presbyterian evangelism, culminating in the Easter ingathering, are all evidences that while the goals have not been fully realized, they have not been forgotten."

MOTION TO DISCONTINUE MINE SUIT IS HEARD

MUSKOGEE, May 20.—On a motion to discontinue a suit filed some time ago by officials of district 2, U. M. W. of A., asking that a receiver be appointed to take charge of the affairs of Oklahoma Leader, a socialist newspaper published daily at Oklahoma City, the delegates attending a special conference of the district today are hearing the representatives of the Leader in his argument. E. C. Marianelli, McAlester, attorney for the paper, made the address.

Half Holiday on Saturday Sought By Church Group

DES MOINES, Ia., May 20.—A resolution endorsing the Saturday half holiday was submitted here today to the general assembly of the Presbyterian church in the United States by the permanent committee on Sabbath observance in connection with its third annual report.

The committee, of which William Jennings Bryan is a member, also offered a resolution urging the early enactment of a Sunday rest law for the District of Columbia. It reported having contended with "an organized propaganda against so-called 'blue laws' by powerful interests with an expenditure at what has been estimated as minimum of $2,000,000 with possibly as much as $6,000,000 to break down the American Sabbath." Harmon H. McQuilken is chairman and Harry L. Bowby secretary of the committee.

"The Lord's Day Alliance and co-operating forces, the Permanent Committee in many places giving its full share of service, were responsible for the routing of these forces," the report said. "A real national awakening to the menace of Sabbath desecration has been noted."

The resolution relative to the Saturday half-holiday, also appealed for the "defense of the law protecting Sunday."

CITY LEAGUE TO OPEN ON MAY 25

Twilight Baseball Due to Last two Months With 4 Teams Playing.

Ada City Baseball League will start operations May 25, according to an announcement today by Ralph Waner, manager of the Ada Athletic Association, which body is organizing the four team league of local talent.

Teams included in the league are: Midgets, or high school team; A. A. A., or city clerks; American Legion, and College. Paul Waner is manager of the Midgets; Gilbert Reed manager of the A. A. A., M. Z. Thompson of the College and John Fain of the American Legion. A cup instead of a pennant will be awarded to the winning team.

A constitution and by-laws for the league have been drawn up. Each club will be allowed to have 15 contracted players, each player being approved by the baseball commissioner, A. L. Green. No official umpires were named but power will be given to those selected to fine players who get disorderly on the field.

By-laws provide that a club becoming angry and quitting in the progress of a game will be fined not less than $5 and be subject to expulsion from the league. Players who commit offenses more than one time will be subject to expulsion by the baseball commissioner.

All games will be played for seven innings beginning at 5:30 p. m. on Tuesday and Thursday of each week. Nine games will be played by each club and in case of a tie post season games will be scheduled. The schedule will end July 25.

Eighteen games will be played during the season. Most of the clubs have been working out regularly and will be in fine condition for the opening of the season. Members of the athletic association will be admitted free to all games. No player will be allowed to go on the field until he has first become a member of the association, and agrees to abide by the constitution and by-laws. Contracts have been drawn which each man is required to sign.

Transfer of players from one team to another, trades and additions of new men, will be affected only through the baseball commissioner's approval. All disputes will be settled by him. No salary will be paid players and the association will take all gate receipts. Balls and other field equipment which teams are not required to furnish will be provided by the association.

The opening game will be between the Ada Athletic Association team and Midgets. The former team will play the American Legion squad on May 30, Midgets and American Legion will play on June 1, and A. MAN AND WOMAN HELD FOR DEATH

Murder of 6-year-old Girl
Presents Deep Mystery
at Tulsa Today.

TULSA, May 20.—Mrs. Pearl Sullivan, 25, of Tulsa and Ben Ackley, 28 a barber at Keystone, are held in the county jail without bond following arraignment before Justice J. T. Thompson this morning, when they pleaded not guilty to a charge of murdering the woman's six year old daughter, Thelma.

The little girl died under what appeared mysterious circumstances a mile south of Turley, Thursday night.

Earlier in the evening Mrs. Sullivan, Ackley and the child had left Tulsa in Ackley's roadster for the home of Mrs. Sullivan's sister, southeast of the city, it was said.

Sometime before midnight Ackley returned to Tulsa, appeared at an undertaking parlor, reported the death of the girl and took the undertaker with him to a farm house near Turley before Mrs. Sullivan was found with the lifeless body.

Both Mrs. Sullivan and Ackley declared Thelma had fallen out of the car and the wheels passed over the body.

Dr. Butler, county physician, following an autopsy over the body yesterday evening, expressed the belief that the child's death was not the result of being run over by the car. During the day Mrs. Vandy Smith and other neighbors appeared at the county attorney's office and made statements in regard to the case. They said Mrs. Sullivan was visiting her sister, Mrs. Rosie Bliss, in the rear of 199 North Frisco street, before she and Ackley started away with the child. They declared she returned late that night, spent the night at Mrs. Smith's home, told her of the death but did not seem perturbed and acted in a manner which aroused their suspicion.

Transfer of players from one team to another, trades and additions of new men, will be affected only through the baseball commissioner's approval. All disputes will be settled by him. No salary will be paid players and the association will take all gate receipts. Balls and other field equipment which teams are not required to furnish will be provided by the association.

The opening game will be between the Ada Athletic Association team and Midgets. The former team will play the American Legion squad on May 30, Midgets and American Legion will play on June 1, and A. Each team will play three games with other members of the league during the season.

The executives to whom invitations were issued are understood to be planning an informal and private conference during the afternoon to discuss matters which the president will take up with them. It was learned today that the guest list includes only men who are largely engaged in directing railroad systems.

Francis Man Enters Plea of Guilty to Charge of Larceny

A fine of $50 and 15 days in the county jail was imposed Friday by Justice of the Peace H. J. Brown when Roscoe Freeman, said to be an employee of the Frisco Railway at Francis, appeared in court and entered a plea of guilty to a charge of petit larceny.

Freeman was alleged to have stolen goods from box cars in the Frisco yards and from the depot.

His plea to be allowed to return to Francis to work out his fine was denied.

Woods Tells A. H. S. Class
Education is Strong Bid For Success.

Ada school activities were formally closed Friday evening with the high school commencement exercises. This ended one of the most successful school years in Ada's history, in the opinion of school authorities.

Rev. H. M. Woods, pastor of the First Christian church, made an inspiring address to the graduates. He warned them against things they could expect to go up against later in life, and talked at length on talents obtained in a high school education.

Value of money was given particular stress. Other talents he pointed out as being important were brains and education. The latter he said, "made the world go round." It was the dividing point between the powerful and weak.

In addition to the class address, an interesting program was rendered. Musical numbers by the senior class glee club, school orchestra and girls' chorus, and a cornet solo by Burgess Steed were included in the program. E. C. Wilson of the college faculty addressed the class for a few minutes following the presentation of diplomas.

The First Methodist church was visited by immediate members of the families of the graduates, their friends and patrons of the school. Large crowds have attended every school event during the week.

Man Found Slain at Tulsa May Be Laundry Manager

(By the Associated Press)

TULSA, May 20.—Although identification has not been completed, the body of the man found murdered in a thicket near Mead, Okla., yesterday is believed to be that of Robert C. Means, manager of the cleaning department of the White Swan laundry here. He came here about a month ago and left the first of the week to bring overland from Dallas a car that corresponded to the one found near the murdered man at Mead.

The letter found on the body, addressed to "R. C. Means, Dallas," was from Mean's sister in Chickasha. Mrs. Means here has been notified that the body has been shipped to Means' former home in Sedalia, Mo. She and her seven year old son will leave for Sedalia today.

Help, I'm Drugged! Burglar Discovers Jake is Poisoned

Said the old glass-eater to the tattooed man, "Though my stomach's bulled on a bomb-proof plan, it would do the shimmy and the hoochie-cooch. If I ever fed it any bootleg hooch,"—Rumhound's Melody.

Doctors with their emergency stomach pumps and nurses with their ice water bags are probably working overtime somewhere in Ada today as the result of a burglary Friday night at the home of T. E. Brents, federal prohibition officer, in which four gallons of "spiked" Jamaica ginger was stolen.

The goods had been thoroughly doped with formaldehyde, a solution which booze enforcement officers use to preserve the bottled goods after it is captured, so it can be used as evidence.

All the confiscated "jake" was in a back room at Brents' home on South Broadway. Night prowlers made off with it and left no clue to their identity. Brents said the liquid was fatal if taken in its present form.

Walter Black and Stella Roberts, both of Vanoss, waived preliminary and were bound over to the district court Friday by Justice of the Peace H. J. Brown on a charge of adultery. Each made bond for $500.

Mr. Caraway charged that the Attorney General had requested Thomas B. Felder, former Georgia attorney, to employ "the government's chief witness" in the Boch Magneto investigation, and his assistance in defending the Boch company. He reviewed records and documents in the Morse case, and excused:

"I say that there is only one decent thing for Attorney General Daugherty to do, that is to resign and not embarrass the administration any further."

Sentenced to Die

Twelve men, with grave faces, were met to decide an issue of life or death.

No burly criminal stood there to receive punishment for his crimes, only a little child begging for life.

Her sin was hunger and nakedness.

She trembled, and almost fell, as she stretched out thin, bare arms in supplication.

"Hunger—Bread!" were the only words she spoke.

A long time passed, while those men fought to escape the verdict they must render. But then the word came:

"We have not found anyone who will give you bread, little girl. We have told a great many people about you, but they have given to so many other boys and girls that they are tired of giving. There is not enough bread, now, to go around—no, not even a crust. We are very sorry, dear little girl, but—we must let you die."

A cruel jest? No! A cruel fact, multiplied thousands upon thousands of times! If only one such pleading child were condemned to die because we are tired of giving it would be enough to blanch the checks of every man and woman who reads this page. But upon many thousands of boys and girls the sentence of death has just been passed.

In Armenia a Christian race is being blotted out—while the world looks on. In Armenia peace did not come when the rest of the world stopped fighting. Last year 140 villages were destroyed; thousands of mothers and grown daughters were violated and slain; fathers were herded into buildings and burned. Multitudes of orphaned children were driven into the wilderness to wander and die, unless, perchance they might be gathered, like lost lambs, into folds of safety by the Near East Relief. Conditions are worse than at any time since the armistice. frantic appeals for more food to save the children, for more clothing to cover their naked bodies, for more hospitals and orphanages to give them refuge come surging over the cables to "kind, generous, America," the hoped-for savior of Armenia.

And in the moment of this crisis, when the question of life or death for unnumbered thousands of children must be answered, the tender charity of American mothers, fathers has begun to fail. Their answer to the multitude of little orphans whose only sin is hunger, and nakedness, and immeasurable grief, has been—in December, and January, and February, and March—not more money, and more clothing, and more food, but less. And so the cruel order has gone forth from the offices of the Near East Relief to reduce all expenditures twenty-five per cent.

Twenty-five children from every hundred now receiving care must be turned away. Among the many thousands whose wails of hunger, and sickness, and cold have not yet been answered, not one can be satisfied.

And now the cries of terror and dismay are reaching America.

Cablegram, via Paris: "Thousands of deportees filling Near East. Thresh hold, receiving crust of bread, hoping for summer peace. Shall we push them off our doorstep? Order of twenty-five percent reduction necessitates closing March first all general relief."

Cablegram, Constantinople: "Appalling increase of need for general relief throughout Anatolia, Caucasus. Reduction in already inadequate appropriations cuts off multitudes who are hopeless without American aid."

Cablegram, from American Women's Hospital, Erivan: "We have eight hundred and fifty-two cases in the hospital, and children dying in all corners of Erivan. All day long we can hear the wails and groans of little children outside the office buildings hoping we can and will pick them up. If the sun shines a little while they quiet down when it rains they begin again. One day when the rain turned to snow it was awful to listen to them. The note of terror that came into the general wail was plainly preceptible upstairs, and I had the windows closed. They well knew what a night in the snow would mean to them. We are picking them up as fast as possible, but it is fatal to crowd them to such a point that we would lose even those already in orphanage."

Erivan—that one time prosperous city of Armenia, not far from Mount Ararat, famous, in days of peace, for the peach orchards and vegetable gardens that surrounded it on every side. Walk through its streets to day, and here is what you will see: "Children walking through the muddy gutters hunting for bits of orange rags."

peels, apple cores, or anything that once resembled food; little boys and girls sleeping in stalls, with straw and manure spread over their bodies to keep them from freezing to death; or, in the early morning, deserted children lying in the doorways of the buildings, wrapped in old burlap bags, some silent, perhaps already dead, others sobbing unconsciously in their sleep. They have been placed there during the night by their mothers who, unable to feed them any longer, have resorted to desperation as a final chance to save their children's lives. There is always a chance that they will be rescued by the Americans, and it is with this one hope that the mothers leave their little children, praying to God that they will be saved by the kind and generous Americans."

Has that story of utterable suffering of passionate love and gratitude for what has been given, that trusting, prayerful appeal for rescue of children whose lives now depend on us? Are we tired of being "kind and generous"? Is there no longer any sacrificed tenderness for little children in our hearts? Is it time to be rid of burden, to stop our giving and so, through the Board of Trustees of the Near East Relief, who must act as we dictate, to pronounce the sentence of death on these thousands of boys and girls who have believed, to the last moment, that we would save them?

Mothers and fathers of America, it is not true! You will not allow it! Your hearts have not turned to stone! What are a few paltry miles of distance? They can not separate you from that famine-stricken land, where dead and dying children litter the city streets. They can not shut out from your vision those hunger-pinned faces and outstretched hands. You can shut your windows, as they did, in very desperation, in the City of Erivan; but the walls and moans of little children, waiting in rain and snow, by day and night, to be "picked up" and clothed and fed can not be shut out of your heart.

From far-away stations, by the magic of science, our homes are being filled with song, and story, and music for the dance. But there are messages more wonderful than any controlled by the wizards of wireless. They are coming now from far-away, and the story they bring is burdened with tears. The music is not for dancing, for those who make it can scarce stand upon their feet. The song, swelled to a chorus of woes by thousands of little voices that ought to be musical with laughter, is always the same: "Hunger!—Bread!" And with the pleading cry of the children, there comes a voice, sweet and solemn, saying, "These are My little ones; ye are My Shepherds; Feed My Lambs."

To catch these messages, every American heart that has thrilled at the laughter of a little child or throbbed at its cry of pain is the receiving instrument, and the messages are broadcasted to us from the very throne of Heaven.

No mistake can be more tragic at this moment than for you to say, as you read, "The call is not to me; I can not—I need not respond this time; others will give, and the children will not have to die."

There are no others—if you turn away. The appeal has gone throughout the length and breadth of this great land and these "others" have heard it and some have given gladly; but too many have said, "I need not respond this time." During the past four months not enough has been given to continue the care even of those children already gathered into the hospitals and orphanages, while thousands more are waiting to be "picked up" from the streets and country side.

There are no others—if you refuse. Armenia is surrounded by bankrupt nations, or nations struggling to keep themselves from bankruptcy. Europe is full of suffering and need. Armenia's only hope is America. A Christian race will die if

BAPTISTS BREAK MISSION RECORD SAYS SECRETARY

(By the Associated Press)

JACKSONVILLE, Fla.—All previous records on the foreign mission fields were broken during the last year by the agencies of the Southern Baptist convention, Dr. J. F. Love, secretary of the Foreign Mission Board at Richmond, reported to the convention today. There was a gain of 154 in the number of ordained missionaries on the fields, 80 local churches, 14,600 members, 135 Sunday schools with an enrollment of 13,691 and 159 native assistants, the report shows, while the increase for the year in the contributions of the native churches was $211,775, the total contributions of the churches being $454,238.85.

Other items in the report show a gain of 62 mission schools with an increase of 3,641 pupils enrolled.

The summary of results covers the work of the fields in China, Japan, Africa, Italy, Brazil, Mexico, Chile, Argentina and Uruguay, the older fields occupied by the board, as the work in the new fields of Spain, Yugoslavia, Hungary, Roumania, Southern Russia, Palestine, Syria and Siberia confined largely to re-enforcement of the native workers and institutions. On the older fields the denomination reports 622 churches with a membership of 64,251; 971 Sunday schools with a membership of 52,691; 459 foreign missionaries, 1,137 native assistants, 23 foreign physicians and nine foreign nurses, with 14 native physicians and 56 native nurses, 14 hospitals, 16 dispensaries and 160,656 treatments being administered during the last year.

In addition to its regular missionary work the board through European commissioner, Dr. J. H. Rushbrooke, has been enabled to secure religious liberty for the Baptists of Roumania, and has made a large contribution to the relief of the suffering in Russia. In addition to cash and food sent by the denomination the Baptist women of the South sent seventy tons of clothing to Russia. Considerable relief work was done in China also during the year.

Secretary Love's report shows that out of every dollar contributed to foreign missions only 3.74 cents is required in defraying the total cost of administration, leaving 96.26 cents that goes into actual mission work on the foreign fields.

Babe Ruth, World Swat King, Will Leave Bleachers Today

BAMBINO JUBILANT AS SENTENCE FROM LANDIS IS AT END

Hard Hitting Yank Sweats Thru Period of Exile With Patience.

(By the Associated Press) NEW YORK, May 20.—His penance all performed, Babe Ruth, the prodigal son of Swat, takes up his bludgeon again today, weather permitting, as the New York Yankees open a long home series at the Polo Grounds with Kenneth Williams, the Ruthian Lockinvar from out of the West, trying to make his 1922 Metropolitan debut the beginning of a fade-out for George Herman.

Since he has read of the ball-slashing prowess of Williams, since he has been shown that the Yankees are more than a "one man" club, since he has found that Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis means to enforce the rules and since he has discovered what it means not to be allowed to play, it is reported that Ruth's uniform—including his cap—fits better.

But regardless of the intrepidity of Mr. Williams, who seems intent upon galloping past the Babe's high water mark of 59 home runs for last season; regardless of the fact that Ruth has a "record"—as a baseball Sherlock, if one there was, would term it, the Crowned King of Kloufers is still the pride of Harlem and the biggest baseball drawing card the world has even known.

He Remains Popular.

In the view of many fans the attitude that Ruth has displayed since receiving his "sentence" from Commissioner Landis, the quiet manner in which he has conducted himself, his willingness to "play the game" and his apparent determination to make up for lost time—all of this will bring as many people to the ball yards to see him this year as did last.

According to those who have the Bambino's confidence, he has been elated over the fast pace the Yanks have set without him in the line-up and now that he knows that he is a trifle more valuable as a magnet to the box-office than as a counter in the total scoring he will attempt more than ever to be more of a first-class baseball player and a more diligent purveyor of satisfaction to fandom in general.

Ruth's appearance in the line-up will mark his first appearance in a league game this year, 38 days after the opening of the season, and with one-fourth of the season gone, necessitates Ruth slapping out one homerun at least every other day and three on one day to surpass his record of last year.

The Babe was banished last fall by Commission Landis together with Bob Meusel, another Yank whose achievement of getting 24 home runs last year is seldom thought of, for playing an exhibition game with the Buffalo International league team after the World Series had ended, in violation of the rule that prohibits World Series players from indulging in such exhibitions.

Did It Deliberately?

No only did Ruth and Meusel violate the rule but they did it after Commissioner Landis had personally talked with Ruth and told him what would happen in case the rule was violated. After that conversation Ruth expressed his determination to flout the Commissioner, and Landis, meeting the most severe test of his baseball career, fore-shadowed what his decision would be by saying:

"It will be a personal issue between Ruth and me to determine which man is bigger in baseball." With the 38 days suspension over it looks to baseball fandom as if Ruth is convinced that Landis is the bigger.

As soon as he had flouted Landis, Ruth was sorry, but he had gone and done it. Full of remorse and forebodings, Ruth hopped back to New York, swore repentence and took a rest. Soon the Landis decision came along and Babe became quiet—quiet until Colonel Huston, part owner of the Yankees, found him at Hot Springs and got the Babe to sign a five-year contract for between $75,000 and $100,000 a year flat salary.

In Grandstand.

Babe went to the training camp with the club and played in the exhibition games enroute home and at home, but when the club opened in Washington Ruth sat in the grand stand like President Harding. Since then he has practiced off and on, read the papers, travelled a bit, played golf, undergone a minor operation, and became glum and downcast, anticipatory and happy.

He dons his uniform again today "better balanced", as Commissioner Landis, who is now his very good friend, would say.

Ruth, unquestionably the greatest hitter of all time, has batted out 75 homeruns in the last six years. He

The speed kings of the auto world are headed for Indianapolis these days with their "pets" for the blue ribbon racing event of the auto world—the annual 500-mile race over the Indianapolis speedway Memorial Day. Tommy Milton winner last year, heads the list and will defend his crown.

The world in general knows the fame of Milton, Howdy Wilcox, Gules Goux, Joe Thomas, the Chevrolets, Ralph De Palma and Ralph Mulford. These men have hogged the limelight ever since the event was conceived. But of late seasons younger drivers have been coming to the front and giving these pioneers a close race for fame, winning in some of the other important meets staged during the summers of the last four or five years. It may be that this year will see a youngster lead the vets past the finish at Indianapolis.

You can't tell Milton that, however.

Ralph Mulford believes this is his year and pins his faith on his eight-cylinder Frontenac. He has driven in every race held over the Hoosier oval and knows conditions he and his car will face.

Jules Goux, French demon, is more enthusiastic over his Ballot car than he has been over his entry the last few seasons. He believes his "boat" can halt the string of victories American drivers have secured by winning the last two contests.

It was Goux who interrupted the Americans' march in 1913 by winning the event after U. S. drivers had copped in 1911 and 1912.

De Palma has deserved his Ballot car for a Duesenberg and is confident that he will give the field a terrific battle. Another Duesenberg will be piloted by Joe Thomas who insists that he will race despite the fact that he was stricken with appendicitis at a recent meeting.

Wilcox has been in Indianapolis all winter, devoting his time to fitting out his French Peugeot. He won the classic in 1919 and believes he will make it two this year.

With the confidence and class cars these old boys possess it'll be hard for a newcomer to whip a car around the track to victory. But you never can tell.

One More!

Here's another unknown heavy who is now claiming a foothold in the ring spotlight. He's one Joe Burke, who made Bob Martin, much heralded A. E. F. heavyweight champ, look like a beginner the other night.

Burke took on Martin on a two-day notice as a substitute for Harry Crone. Martin ought to beware of bugs after this. Had Burke thrown caution to the winds after the first couple of rounds he could have scored a knockout, critics agreed after the fight.

Burke is a protege of Jimmy Dunn's, the man who made Johnny Kilbane feather champ and brought out Bryan Downey, believes he has a comer in Burke.

The fighter is twenty-four. He built up a good physique in the coal mines of Pennsylvania. He has had twelve fights and has won nine of them. Most of his opponents were men of much more experience.

Griffith of Brooklyn and Hank Gowdy of Boston are topping Topper of St. Louis for batting honors of the National League, with marks of .417 and .400. Topper is hitting .398. However, Griffith and Gowdy played in only sixteen games, while Topper participated in twenty-two.

CHICAGO, May 20.—Ty Cobb, one of the greatest batters of the American League, is knocking at the door for the batting honors of the junior league circuit, according to averages released today and which include games of Wednesday.

The Tiger leader, who was hitting .347 a week ago boosted his average to .413, and finds himself safely resting in second place. Ty's great batting apparently has been an incentive to his teammates and as a result the Tigers have been winning consistently.

George Sisler, the St. Louis star, who was hitting .402 a week ago, stepped to the top of the batting list with a mark of .442. He also is showing himself to be the best run getter in the league. His great batting and base running has enabled him to register 34 runs. He is showing the way to the base stealers with 15 thefts his closest rival being his teammate, Kenneth Williams. Sisler also is leading Williams for the total base honors, with 84 bases as compared to 81 for Williams. Sisler has cracked over nine doubles, three triples and four home runs, while Williams' total, besides his eleven home runs, include seven doubles and a triple.

Lawton Witt, the Yankee outfielder who was topping the list of leading batters a week ago lost three points and has dropped to third place with an average of .407.

Other leading batters: Ed Miller, Philadelphia .398; O'Neill, Cleveland .394; Clark, Detroit .391; Speaker Cleveland .376; Jamison, Cleveland .353; Williams, St. Louis .339; Pratt, Boston, .330.

UMPIRES REQUESTED TO LET MEUSEL AND RUTH IN GAME TODAY

Landis Grants Request of Outlawed Players for Reinstatement.

(By the Associated Press)
CHICAGO, May 20.—Babe Ruth and Bob Meusel of the New York Yankees were reinstated by Commissioner Landis today.

The home run king is eligible to start his drive for 1922 slugging honors in this afternoon's game with the St. Louis Browns at New York.

The telegram from Ruth and Meusel was received at the commissioner's office at 8:30 a. m. The judge was not there, but his secretary, Leslie O'Connor, had received his instructions last night and promptly sent a telegram to Ruth and Meusel reading as follows:

"Your re-instatement application granted, effective immediately."

"Signed: K. M. Landis."

A third telegram was sent to Umpires Chill and Owens, reading:

"Babe Ruth and Bob Meusel reinstated effective immediately. Eligible for today's game. K. M. Landis."

The applications for reinstatement of Ruth and Meusel were identical. They read as follows:

"I hereby respectfully apply for immediate reinstatement, to enable me to play in the game here today, Saturday, May 20."

Bill Piercy, former Yankee, now of the Boston Red Socks, also applied for reinstatement. Piercy's telegram read as follows:

"I hereby make application for reinstatement to enable me to pitch a game today, May 20. Kindly wire."

The three were suspended last fall when they violated the major league rules by playing post season games. This rule has been in effect for some time and as a result of the Ruth case there has been considerable talk of changing it.

The rule was not made by Judge Landis, his action being simply to enforce the already existing law.

Only 4 Letter Man

Frank Potts.

Ada high school has granted four letters in one year to only one man. He is Frank Potts who starred on the football, basketball, baseball and track teams at the local school the past year.

Potts first attracted attention with his football playing last fall when as a half-back he was a factor in pushing the pigskin around the field. He was a pigskin before the end of the season and completed a basketball season with honors. He played center on the basketball team.

When baseball season opened he made a place on the team, holding down first base. He did not play in all the games on account of having to work out for track and field events, but participated in enough to make a letter.

In track and field he made all-round honors in two meets, won a long list of first, second and third place medals, and tied for first place in pole vault at the state meet at Norman. He will be with the local school next year, and will complete his final school work.

In addition to athletic honors won during the past year, he is captain-elect of two teams for 1923. He will lead the football and basketball teams. Potts will be expected also to lead the school in track again.

MAYBE JACKIE COOGAN'S MOTHER TAUGHT HIM THIS

Holding the captain's nose shut with his little fingers, six-year-old Jackie Blair poured a generous dose of the medicine down the throat of the rheumatic.

The delinquent shrieks which followed told Jackie that something was wrong, but he didn't know exactly the nature of the mishap. When the captain regained his vocal powers, however, Jackie learned that he had given the captain some medicine which had been intended for external use only.

Humorous situations like this abound in "My Boy," a First National attraction starring little Jackie Coogan, which is coming to the McSwain theatre on Monday for an engagement of 2 days.

BIBLE THOUGHT OF TODAY

YE WILL REAP WHAT YE SOW:—Be not deceived; God is not mocked: for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap. For he that soweth to his flesh shall of the flesh reap corruption but he that soweth to the spirit shall of the Spirit reap life everlasting. And let us not be weary in well doing; for in due season we shall reap, if we faint not.—Galatians 6:7-9.

HOT AIR AND GOOD ROADS

Luther Harrison in his paper, the Holdenville Democrat, expresses some disgust with the effort to build good roads with hot air. He says that ever since he came to Oklahoma he has boasted for good roads, joined good roads organizations and paid his dues and has listened to hundreds of speeches on the subject, and that although Hughes county boasts of a whole string of highways with fancy names, they are still the same old makeshifts of roads they always were. He thinks it has been clearly demonstrated that the only way to get good roads is to build them and that hot air is very poor substitute for the materials needed for permanent roads. Hence he argues that hereafter it will pay better to talk less and build more.

Both the college and the high school of Ada have broken all records this year in the number of graduates turned out. Both have made records to be proud of and the News rejoices to see the educational interest of the city improving all the time. When one looks back fifteen years and compares the facilities of those days with what we have now he realizes that some real progress has been made in every line and can feel proud of the advancement made. Even in the early days Ada gave the children every advantage it could raise the money to pay for and the schools have improved as the city advanced. With the college now ranking among the first and a public school system surpassed by few, if any, in a city of Ada's population and resources, the town offers a strong inducement to desirable citizens to locate here and many have come for this very reason.

Optimism is now abroad in Pontotoc county and every person, young and old alike, going the limit to get back to the old basis of prosperity. The first item of this year's crop is alfalfa. It is now being baled and with a few more days of sunshine thousands of bales will be put up. What is worst needed is a fair railroad rate on hay. If can be shipped to advantage a long step will have been taken in the direction of good times. Then comes the oat crop and the same thing applies there. With such a large increase in the number of hogs the county can absorb a good sized crop of corn at home, but alfalfa and prairie hay and other feeds afford a surplus that must find an outlet if the best results are to be attained.

Poor old China is in the midst of a civil war. Things have not gone smoothly with this nation for a number of years. The defeat of China in the war with Japan a quarter of a century ago convinced the Chinese that they must adopt western ways if they met the issues confronting them and this path has been a rough one. Too many are wedded to the old ideas to make it easy for the reformers and things have gone from bad to worse. China has been plundered and bullied unmercifully by Japan and the European nations for many years and the United States is the only country which has kept faith with the Chinese and not tried to rob them. Hence the prestige of Uncle Sam is high among the Chinese.

The agitator thrives on troubles. If no row is going he makes it a point to stir up one. In fact, thousands of them are simply leeches on the public, getting a living out of those whose cause they advocate as long as the money holds out. Of course they play out in time but they have an easy thing and soft snap as long as they can keep the wool pulled over the eyes of their dupes. What they advocate is a matter of no importance to them. One cause is as good as another, it is the cash that counts.

The soviet government of Russia has decided to try a new currency plan, the money issued, to be based on the value of a day's work. The next question is whose work. We have seen some men who if paid what they were actually worth would get several cents less than nothing at the end of a day. However, perhaps the Reds can fix it up somehow.

Few men attain the heights to which their early ambitions aspire, but this is no reason why one should lay down on the job of making the most possible of his life. Even of a man overestimates his ability at the beginning, he may still make enough headway to accomplish some things worth while.

Getting rich quick is rather out of the ordinary, but getting poor quickly is too common to excite more than passing comment.

How would the world know of the greatness of some men if these men did not tell it themselves?

WILL THEY EVER COME OUT ALIVE?

LIFE'S JUST ONE ROUND OF TRIALS FOR THIS BEAUTY

Mrs. Ruth Turner Bishop Martin

Just one bitter court fight after another characterizes the life of Mrs. Ruth Turner Bishop Martin, Chicago beauty. She's now in divorce court for the second time. Between the two divorce actions she was haled into court on a charge of assault to kill by her second husband, James Wright Martin, who charges she tried to run him down with an auto and when that failed shot at him. Judge MacDonald has promised him divorce.

At present the political situation in Manitoba is chaotic, and it is uncertain what the coming election in July will bring forth. Unless one party or group secures a clear majority, its victory will rest upon a precarious foundation, since it cannot attempt to do anything without trimming its sails to please some other group. Political observers say the hope of the people as a whole is that a dominant party will emerge, with power to put over a program and carry on the government according to its declared policies, thereby putting an end to the confusion which has rendered progress impossible.

The two-party plan of government has its faults, but to date modern political reformers have not discovered anything better. The experience of Manitoba seems to indicate that it works more efficiently than the group system.

(Bartlesville Examiner) Earl Willard, young shoe-factory worker at Brockton, Mass., has one of the strangest jobs in the world, as a sideline.

Seven years ago, a woman in his factory caught her hair in belting that dragged her into a piece of machinery. As an act of mercy, to replace the woman's lost scalp, Willard gave 24 square inches of his skin, for grafting purposes.

It dawned on him, that here was an opportunity to make pocket-money on the side.

Since then, Willard has sold 54 square inches of his skin at $1 a square inch, and eight pints of his blood for transfusion at $25 a pint.

Primarily, his purpose is humanitarian.

But it reveals that many opportunities, often of a peculiar nature, are lying around loose in the world, waiting to be discovered by sharp eyes that sense their possibilities.

"WET" GOVERNOR OF N. J. TO SEEK SEAT IN SENATE

Gov. Edward I. Edwards, above, and Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen.

(By Central Press)

TRENTON, N. J., May 1.—Gov. Edward I. Edwards of this state, who was elected on a platform "to make New Jersey as wet at the Atlantic ocean," is conducting his campaign for the Democratic nomination for senator at the primaries next September. He will oppose Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, republican incumbent and personal friend of President Harding.

Edwards announced his intention to run some time ago. Because he is known as a consistent liberal it is generally believed that the governor will emphasize as one of his issues the liberalizing of the Volstead act to permit the manufacture and sale of light wines and beer.

Edwards, in announcing his plans to seek the senatorial seat, stated that his action was prompted by a "real demand" throughout the U. S. for his candidacy. It is not known definitely yet whether State Senator Alexander Simpson will oppose Edwards at the primary. Simpson, who announced his candidacy before Edwards, has stated that he would not contest the governor's nomination. But he has not withdrawn from the race as yet. Friends of Edwards insist that Simpson's opposition will not materially affect the governor's chances, however.

Mr. McKeel says at this time he has no special program to announce. Later he may have something more to say about what he expects to accomplish in case he is elected. He has plenty of energy and no doubt will be frequently heard from before the primary election on the first day of August.

Miss Madeline Southard, of Winfield, Kansas, is president of the International Association of Women Preachers, an undenominational organization.

A soft bias girdle of material terminated by tassels is used as a finish for the waist line. A novelty girdle, however, may be used with smart effect.

The front of the coat is finished simply and is worn slightly open, giving the lining an opportunity to serve as decoration.

Close hats balance well with such a wrap, not interfering in the least with the line of the sleeves whose whole duty is to express the mode.

Wistful Youth.

"I'd like to go to a funeral this afternoon," said the office boy to the head clerk.

"Oh, you would, would you?" snapped the other. "Well, you can't. Just because the boss is away won't you do as you like. You won't go."

"No, sir, I know I won't," sighed the boy. "But I'd like to all the same."

Something tragic and appealing in the youthful voice led the head clerk to ask:

"Whose funeral?"

"Yours, sir," said the boy—Answers, London.

With the Women of Today

By EDITH MORIARTY

"A powder puff and a mirror are as essential in a kitchen as the stove and the frying pans."

It would be hard even for the most pessimistic man to accuse the author of this remark of being anything but delightfully feminine, and Miss Kate Gleason, who believes in powder puffs in the kitchen, is one of the most charming women in the modern business world.

When invited to meet "one of the most famous concrete house builders in America" it was both a surprise and a relief to find instead of a severe, solemn and manfully tailored woman—Miss Kate Gleason in a lovely gown of soft gray chiffon. And the interview was scarcely started when Miss Gleason changed the subject from concrete houses to fashions and exhibited two lovely gowns from Worth which from the feminine point of view was the best way to show what it really means to be able to build concrete houses.

Miss Gleason's work is of uncommon interest, not because it was done by a woman, but because as a woman she abandoned a few man-made traditions. She is a graduate of Cornell university and she took the mechanical engineering course when it was unusual for a woman to attend university even to take academic courses.

She gives her father much of the credit for her success "because he was broad enough to let a daughter study engineering," and because he took her into his engineering firm after she had completed her course.

After several years of engineering work Miss Gleason developed her own system of concrete house building and started her own company.

She recently started 100 houses in development at East Rochester, where she lives, and every house was sold before completion.

The cost of one of her six-room houses with built-in garage is between $4,000 and $4,500.

When asked about the powder puff and mirror, Miss Gleason said, with a twinkle in her eyes, "Of course I put a mirror in the kitchen. Doesn't every woman want to look her best even if she is only going to let in the grocer's boy, but I don't forget the man of the house, either. I have a heated garage every one of my houses, with a clean-out and trap for washing cars."

Miss Kate Gleason.

Working on the idea that the fundamental requirement of a house is that it provide an enclosure for and the equipment of a home, Miss Gleason furnishes her houses, among other things, with a gas range, a refrigerator, a kitchen cabinet, an electric fan for outdoor ventilation to the kitchen, rubber mats or linoleum for kitchen floor, screens and shades throughout, fitted bookshelves, fitted woodbox on casters, fitted rods for stair carpets, clothes hamper, towel bars, soap dishes in bathroom and kitchen.

The Young Dr.
Claud

By DOROTHY WHITCOME

Copyright, 1922, Western Newspaper Union. Claud Arthur Sherwin might be an M. D. of Johns Hopkins and the leader of his class in the medical schools, but so long as he lived in Lovell he would never be known as anything more than Dr. Claud. The elder Dr. Claud, his father, had ushered three-fourths of Lovell into the world, and no other doctor would have any chance to hang out his shingle within the radius of old Dr. Claud's buggy and high-stepping horses. So young Dr. Claud came home to take over his father's practice without having to fight his way to an income.

It was on the fourth or fifth day after young Dr. Claud's arrival that the telephone rang furiously. Young Dr. Claud was alone in the office. He took down the receiver.

"Is that Dr. Claud?" inquired a woman's voice in agitation. "Oh, young Dr. Claud. Well, I'm Miss Mary Denton, and Mrs. Quinn is in great trouble. Her maid has swallowed sulphate of antimony by mistake for a prescription. Yes, she's here and has asked me to telephone for her. You know Mrs. Quinn's house—the third house across the brook. Good-bye."

Hastily he threw a few things into his bag, mixed a draught of mustard and milk, and set off as fast as he could to walk along the road. Once over the brook he soon saw Mrs. Quinn's house standing in a little grove of trees. He hurried up the drive.

There was nobody in the kitchen, but in the dining room he saw a woman stretched out upon a lounge, apparently insensible. He opened his bag, uncorked the liquid, and, forcing the girl's mouth open, tried to pour the nostrous draught down her throat.

She sat up spluttering.

"What—what—" she began to stammer, and then suddenly a smile broke through the tears of laughter that came into her eyes.

"Oh my dear doctor," she exclaimed, "what a dreadful mistake. You are looking for Mrs. Quinn's maid. She lives across the road. You came to the wrong house. You'd better hurry."

"But the mustard is all gone," stammered young Dr. Claud.

"Then I'll mix some more," volunteered the young woman. Come into the kitchen."

But as he arose young Dr. Claud saw the family buggy draw up across the street and his father descend, together with a very agitated middle-aged woman. The young lady saw it, too.

"That's Mrs. Quinn," she said. "I guess she found your father and has brought him there."

"Then I'd better go," stammered young Dr. Claud. He took his hat. "You are Miss Denton, aren't you?" he hazarded.

"Yes, of course I am. I'll wager you have never thought of me since you went to Baltimore."

"Indeed I have," replied young Dr. Claud warmly. His hand went into his pocket and he pulled out a broken coin. "Do you remember this," he asked. "You said you were going to keep the other half until—"

Miss Mary Denton's hand had gone up involuntarily to her throat. She tried to stop the action, but it was too late. There hanging upon a chain, young Dr. Claud saw the other half of the coin. And for the second time within five minutes Miss Denton's cheeks turned scarlet.

"Now you go," she said, pushing him toward the door. "I don't think our meeting has been a very happy one, Dr.—Dr. Claud."

But although he found himself almost violently excluded from the house young Dr. Claud was singularly happy—so much so that his father commented upon his appearance when he came out of the house.

"You certainly don't look like a man who has just been beaten in the race for his first patient," he said. "It's lucky I was on the spot, Claud. Just saved her in time. Mrs. Quinn told me she telephoned you half an hour ago."

"I—I went to the wrong house," faltered young Dr. Claud.

"Humph!" growled his father. "You seemed to be coming from the direction of Miss Denton."

Old Dr. Claud was about to twit his son a little longer, but when he looked at him again something made him check himself abruptly. Miss Mary was a favorite of his, and he had hoped that after Claud settled down in Lovell—it was one of those dreams in which old men indulge in their idle moments. And as the weeks rolled by he was encouraged to go on dreaming it.

And when young Dr. Claud, with Mary on his arm, came into old Dr. Claud's office and, stammering, said that he had something very important to communicate, old Dr. Claud found that he could only press his son's hand and kiss Miss Mary's blushing cheeks. Because his dream had really come to pass and the Lovell practice seemed likely to become hereditary.

EXCESSIVE RAIN
KEEPES FARMERS
OUT OF FIELDS

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY—Corn and cotton fields in Oklahoma, which are usually clean cultivated at this season, are grassy this year as a result of the continued rainfall that has kept farmers out of the fields. It is noted in the synopsis of weather and crop conditions for the state for the week ending May 16, issued by the United States weather bureau here. Toward the latter part of the week, the report says, the ground dried sufficiently to allow fair progress in farm work.

Early-corn has made good growth but early planted cotton has been slow in growing and is generally a poor stand, the summary reports. It adds that there is still much corn and cotton to be replanted.

Wheat is reported to have made good growth during the week and to be in good condition, except that there is a thin stand over a much larger acreage than usual. It is heading except in the extreme north western counties.

Green bugs are still active in many fields of oats, the report says, and cloudy, wet weather in the eastern portion of the state is turning grain yellow.

The first cutting of alfalfa, the heavy, has been damaged in curling, the bureau reports, and the second stand is making rapid growth.

Wet weather has favored transplanting of sweet potatoes the summary says, and a large acreage is expected to be set. Planting of peanuts, grain sorghum and in the northwestern portion, broom-corn, has been delayed by the continued rainfall, however.

Sulphur Grand Jury

Its Work Saturday

SULPHUR, May 20.—The grand jury which has been in session since May 1, is expected to complete its work this afternoon and make a report. Principal events probed by the jury include the closing of the Bank of Commerce; the suicide of Charles A. Bryan, former officer of the bank; alleged embezzlement of city funds by Mayor W. H. (Pat) Riley, and handling of contracts for municipal improvements.

"I—I went to the wrong house," faltered young Dr. Claud.

"Humph!" growled his father. "You seemed to be coming from the direction of Miss Denton."

Central State Will Substitute for O. U.
In Games With Ames

NORMAN, Okla., May 20.—(Special)—Central State Teachers college of Edmond, Okla., will meet the Iowa State football eleven at Ames November 19, 1922, the date scheduled with the University of Oklahoma, announced Ben G. Owen, director of Sooner athletics, Monday, after an agreement with Charlie Wantland, Central mentor.

Owen had made a mistake in his schedule for 1922 and had booked both Iowa State and the University of Texas for games November 18. Neither school could change its schedule and Iowa state agreed to meet any team Owen might find for them in order to relieve Oklahoma of that date.

Central's squad won the Oklahoma inter-collegiate championship in 1921 and the same squad will be back for the eleven in 1922. Oklahoma will meet the Longhorns at Norman.

"I regret giving up the Iowa State game very much and appreciate the wonderful spirit of co-operation and good will shown by Iowa school in agreeing to meet Central thus enabling me to straighten out my schedule," Owen said.

PONCA CITY—A move to establish a league of daily newspapers of Oklahoma was inaugurated at the recent convention here of the Oklahoma Press Association. A meeting will be held at Oklahoma City on June 18 to perfect the organization. J. L. Newland, retiring president of the association, was authorized to call the meeting.

Tomorrow Afternoon

Muskogee's amateur baseball club will be here tomorrow afternoon to engage in a swatting battle with Manager Green's Independents.

The manager of the visiting team has been quoted as saying that his team rates among Class D professional teams. Ada has been enjoying this class of baseball teams all season.

Lefty Waner will be in shape to hurl the game after resting since Tuesday, and the players are due to come out of their slump. Those on the team who got a handful of strike outs in the last game trying to "lose the pill" will probably settle down to steady playing again and endeavor to get a batting average worth mentioning.

The game will be called at 3:30. This is the second "big-town" team here this season. An Oklahoma City team played 12 innings to a tie here at the opening of the season. Muskogee should be as good.

Japanese Woman Makes Us Ashamed

A poor woman, well along in years, recently subscribed 100 yen (about $50) toward the funds being raised in Kumamoto, Japan, by the Japan Methodist church. She said,

"My husband is not a Christian and will not help me pay the amount of my pledge; but I will get up two Important Meetings in Mexico.

The third volunteer convention of the Student Volunteers of our Church in Mexico met in Saltillo, April 9-16. Mrs. F. H. E. Ross, treasurer of the Woman's Council, has gone to Mexico to visit these meetings.

Some of the Missionary women from the First Methodist church went over to Asbury church Thursday afternoon and helped organize a missionary society. We are sure we will hear more from them for the spirit that was manifested there is the one that is taking the gospel to the uttermost parts of the earth today.

Murphy was a student at the A. & M. a few months some years ago. Jack Banks and Wm. Fannin were busy planting corn, the rain having caught Jack before he had finished. Mr. and Mrs. Banks live on the McNair place, which is well located. Mr. and Mrs. McNair are dreaming of the day to come when they will move to the place and try their hand at farming. They have planted some alfalfa and have a bunch of hogs to range on it. Mrs. Banks has between 200 and 300 chickens which are thriving.

Friday Mrs. Norrell and I bumed a ride off of Pink Case and made a trip to our farm between Stonewall and Luia. We found that that community has had as much or perhaps more rain than any other in the county. As a general rule it rains more there than anywhere else. To make matters worse a hail storm came along two weeks ago and did quite a bit of damage. However everybody is busy and getting their cotton planted, some corn replanted and plowing out the corn that is up to a stand. From Ada to that point shows signs of more work being done than I ever saw done before in the same length of time. With favorable weather the farmers who were badly discouraged by the long rainy spell will pull out. At all events if their crops fail this year it will not be their fault, I saw some fields of oats and wheat that looked very fine, others not so good and a few that were poor. C. M. Murphy of Union Valley stated that a field of his oats that was damaged somewhat and thinned out by the last freeze had spread out and was one of the best prospects he ever had, while another patch that was not damaged much and left thick on the ground does not look half so well. Some corn looks fairly well and some not so good, while in places it did not come up to a stand and is having to be replanted.

Some cotton was up but I never saw any that had thrived. In most cases it did not come up to a stand. Quite a bit of it has been planted since the rains stopped. Everything depends on the season from now on. In Union Valley they were busy putting out potato slips. E. H. Simpson, who lives on my place, is practicing diversification this year. I gave him a pretty free rein in planning his crop and he is planting a variety that ought to hit somewhere along the line. There will be 35 acres of corn and a lot of cane for our hogs, 20 acres of cotton, some oats, millet, peanuts, peas and potatoes, besides a cucumber and melon patch. He will try his hand with cucumbers for the Ada pickle factory. His brother-in-law, Mr. Wall, has just moved out from Mississippi and is cropping with him. From what Mr. Wall said the business situation in Mississippi is worse than it is here.

I met J. B. Gray along the road to the east that he has come to the conclusion that the boll weevils will not get all the cotton this year and will plant 40 acres. He planted none last year and until lately had not intended to plant any this year. Last fall he shipped in several Jersey cows which with what he already had given him a nice bunch. He is milking about 15 and shipping the cream. He is very well satisfied with the results and expects to stay with it. The separated milk makes it possible to raise a bunch of hogs at a nice profit.

Early in the afternoon we walked over to see W. B. Blevins and wife who lives on the Bruno Mayer place. They made a record with turkeys last year, selling more than $400 worth. Mrs. Blevins said that they have very little trouble in raising them as they look after themselves mostly. They have several hens sitting now and hope to get another bunch this year.

Walking another mile or two we were picked up by a friend in an auto and three or four miles down the road stopped at the Breco place where Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Murphy live. They are going strong on dairying. They are milking 16 Jersey and Holstein cows and shipping about 15 gallons of cream per week. They began this line on its present scale last fall
